Considerations:

As a boy/student, taking advantage of the summer holidays, I worked at several bars in my hometown.

The first experience (and only) in another country, it was in Italy this summer 2013 in a bar seasonal.

There, I improved my experience making "international", I improved the relationship between customer-service, professional language and I have known a myriad of consumer products (alcoholic cocktails and soft drinks, confectionery, beverages, etc..).

My expectation is to work at an activity that allows me to "grow up" professionally and independently, take advantage to take courses to improve my profession and insert another language.

Regardless of your decision to want to try my skills, thank you for your attention and, in wishing a better life, I greet you warmly
